Eliciting Predictions for Discrete Decision Making

Reading Questions 11

Monday, Oct. 15th 2012

1. In your own words, what is a decision market? How is it different from a typical prediction market?
2. What might you use a decision market for? (an example not from the paper, please!)
3. Why is decision making with a single expert different from decision making with many experts in a market?
4. What's the downside / what are the limitations of using a decision market? What about when working with a single expert? When might one be preferable to the other?
